Admissions for 2025-2026

PH.D. PROGRAMS IN PSYCHOLOGY

The Psychology programs admit students directly to the doctoral degree. The requirements for the master's of science are completed as part of the doctoral degree requirements. The department currently offers degrees in Psychology with a specialization in four areas: Behavior Analysis, Behavioral Neuroscience, Clinical, and Life-Span Development.

In addition to WVU’s general admission requirements (http://catalog.wvu.edu/graduate/graduateeducationatwestvirginiauniversity/#classificationtext), applicants for graduate studies in Psychology should have adequate preparation in psychology and related fields and a minimum grade point average of 3.0 in undergraduate coursework. The GRE is not required for admission to any of these programs.

List of Admission Requirements:

• See the steps to apply for admissions and access the application here (https://graduateadmissions.wvu.edu/how-to-apply/).
• Applicants must submit transcripts from all institutions attended
• Three letters of recommendation, written by people (typically faculty) in a position to evaluate the applicant’s academic strengths and abilities
• Resume/Curriculum Vitae
• Statement of purpose that describes the fit between the applicant’s interests and the graduate program major area of study, outline the applicant’s academic and professional goals, and demonstrate the personal qualities that predict success in graduate study.

International Applicants:

• See the steps to apply for admissions and access the application here (https://graduateadmissions.wvu.edu/how-to-apply/).
• International applicants should view additional requirements here (http://catalog.wvu.edu/graduate/graduateeducationatwestvirginiauniversity/#internationaltext/#internationaltext) and here (https://graduateadmissions.wvu.edu/information-for/international-students/).
• Language proficiency is required in order to hold a graduate teaching assistantship. See here (https://elli.wvu.edu/testing-resources/english-proiciency-gtas/).

Application Deadlines:

• Psychology only admits students in the fall semester; all application materials, including letters of recommendation, must be received by the preceding December 1st.
• All applications received by the deadline will be considered for financial support, typically in the form of a graduate teaching assistantship (GTA).
• Applications received after the deadline may be reviewed at the discretion of the admissions committee.
• Exceptional Ph.D. applicants may be nominated by the Psychology program for competitive University Fellowships. Qualified applicants will be notified if they are nominated. More information on WVU fellowships can be found here (https://graduateeducation.wvu.edu/finances/fellowships/).

Certain application requirements may be waived based on a preliminary review of an application by the program.

Degree Progress

All graduate students enrolled in at least one credit hour during the academic year must be provided with a written evaluation from their program following the end of each spring term. This requirement may be waived for students in good standing who are expected to graduate in spring or summer. Specific processes and timelines for each program’s evaluation can be found in the graduate handbook. Annual evaluation may result in probation for students either not making adequate degree progress or failing to uphold professional standards.
Master’s Benchmarks

- By the end of year 2, students should have successfully proposed their thesis.
- By the end of year 3, students should have successfully defended and submitted their written thesis.

Probation or Dismissal: Students may be placed on probation or dismissed for any of the following grounds: (1) failing to make timely progress through the program, (2) inability to form a thesis committee, (3) taking unauthorized leaves of absence, (4) engaging in academic misconduct or unethical behavior, (5) receiving two grades below B- (C, D, F, or U), (6) failing to remove two or more grades of incomplete as specified in incomplete contract, (7) failing to meet academic or professional standards outlined in department handbook or program-area supplements to the handbook, (8) violating of any of the institutional, academic, or behavioral standards described in the Psychology Department Graduate Student Handbook (https://docs.google.com/document/d/1vXRDMflsPYJgPVcldx9fIPmq-3T2wgd/edit/?usp=drive_link&ouid=117936934016159524451&rtspof=true&sd=true), the WVU Graduate/Professional Handbook (http://catalog.wvu.edu/), the American Psychological Association code of ethics (https://www.apa.org/ethics/code/), or codes of ethics specified for the student’s Program Area.

Doctoral Benchmarks

- By the end of year 4 (or year 3 if entering with an approved master's thesis), students should have successfully proposed their dissertation.

Note: Each program area also has specific milestones associated with other training activities (found on the program area catalog pages). These additional activities include, at a minimum, completion of preliminary examinations.

Probation or Dismissal: Students may be placed on probation or dismissed for any of the following grounds: (1) failing to make timely progress through the program, (2) failing the preliminary examination, (3) failing to be recommended for doctoral candidacy by training area or full faculty, (4) inability to form a dissertation committee, (5) taking unauthorized leaves of absence, (6) engaging in academic misconduct or unethical behavior, (6) receiving two grades below B- (C, D, F, or U), (7) failing to remove two or more grades of incomplete as specified in incomplete contract, (8) failing to meet academic or professional standards outlined in department handbook or program-area supplements to the handbook, (9) violating any of the institutional, academic, or behavioral standards described in the Psychology Department Graduate Student Handbook (https://docs.google.com/document/d/1vXRDMflsPYJgPVcldx9fIPmq-3T2wgd/edit/?usp=drive_link&ouid=117936934016159524451&rtspof=true&sd=true), the WVU Graduate/Professional Handbook, the American Psychological Association code of ethics, or codes of ethics specified for the student’s Program Area.

More information regarding requirements for both the M.S. and Ph.D. degrees can be found in the Psychology Department Graduate Student Handbook.
