To receive an offer of aid, a student must be admitted to the WVU System as a degree-seeking student. Students not pursuing a degree may be eligible for limited Federal Direct Loans if they meet certain criteria (https://financialaid.wvu.edu/students/non-degree-student/). Students who need financial aid should apply as early as possible.

Application Process

To apply for federal and some state and institutional aid, students must submit the Free Application for Federal Student Aid (FAFSA). For steps that need taken in preparation, see Preparing for the FAFSA (https://financialaid.wvu.edu/applying-for-aid/preparing-for-fafsa/). See Complete the FAFSA (https://financialaid.wvu.edu/applying-for-aid/fafsa/) for information on how to submit the FAFSA and priority deadlines.

Aid Offer Notification

WVU will receive students' FAFSA information electronically if the WVU System's school code (003827) was included on the FAFSA. The WVU Mountaineer Hub will notify students via their WVU email account if additional information is needed. Once a financial aid offer is available, a notification will be sent to the student's WVU email.

Employment Opportunities

Students are encouraged to use the job search database (https://studentemployment.wvu.edu/) to search for on- and off-campus part-time employment opportunities.

In this section:

• Satisfactory Academic Progress (p. 1)

Satisfactory Academic Progress

Students must make measurable academic progress toward degree completion to remain eligible for most financial aid programs. Federal regulations require that students meet minimum standards for grade point average, successfully complete a minimum percentage of attempted credit hours, and complete their degree within a certain amount of attempted credit hours. The complete Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy (https://financialaid.wvu.edu/home/maintain/academic-progress/) is available online.

Consequences of Withdrawal

If a student receives federal, state, or institutional financial aid and withdraws from all classes during the semester, the student may be required to return all or a portion of their financial aid even if it has already disbursed as payment on the student's account. Refer to Withdrawing from Courses (https://financialaid.wvu.edu/home/maintain/withdrawal/) for more information. Withdrawing from one or more classes may also impact future financial aid eligibility per the Satisfactory Academic Progress Policy (http://financialaid.wvu.edu/home/maintain/academic-progress/).

Financial Assistance for Graduate and Professional Students

WVU graduate and professional students may be eligible for financial assistance through fellowships and scholarships (https://graduateeducation.wvu.edu/funding-and-cost/fellowships-and-scholarships/), graduate assistantships (https://graduateeducation.wvu.edu/funding-and-cost/graduate-assistantships/), tuition waivers (https://graduateeducation.wvu.edu/funding-and-cost/tuition-waivers/), loans (https://financialaid.wvu.edu/loans/#GRLOANS), and other forms of aid. In addition, students can use the job search database at studentemployment.wvu.edu (https://studentemployment.wvu.edu) to search for on- and off-campus part-time employment opportunities.
Fellowships and scholarships provide students with funds that do not require employment. Fellowships managed by the Office of Graduate Education and Life usually include a stipend, University tuition waiver, College tuition scholarship, and student health insurance, and may also provide funds for research and travel. Scholarships provide funds to help defray students’ educational expenses.

Graduate assistantships may be available through a student’s own department/program or other units on campus. Regular graduate assistantships require 20 hours per week of work and partial graduate assistantships require 10 hours per week of work (typically teaching, research, or service). Assistantships provide the student with a stipend and a full or partial waiver of University tuition (but typically not college tuition or University fees; see Tuition, Fees, and Residency and student health insurance).

Tuition Waivers may be provided to some students based on merit, employment with the University, or prior participation in certain programs such as McNair Scholars or the Health Science and Technology Academy (HSTA).

The WVU Mountaineer Hub provides information and instruction to students interested in obtaining federal and private loans to help cover educational expenses.
