Art Therapy, B.A.

Degree Offered

- Bachelor of Arts

Nature of the Program

The undergraduate Bachelor of Arts degree in arts therapy will provide students with foundational skills and preparation for graduate work in art therapy. As the minimum educational requirement to become an art therapist is a Master's degree in art therapy, this BA degree program will allow students to explore a variety of psychology, counseling, and therapeutic artmaking coursework necessary for continued education in the field of art therapy. The proposed curriculum is designed to include a minor in Human Services which will afford students the opportunity to learn valuable interpersonal skills and engage in community-based art practice.

Admissions

All applicants to the WVU School of Art & Design must submit a portfolio for review, except for those entering the Art History or Art Therapy major. Portfolios can be submitted at one of the scheduled portfolio review days, on an individual basis, or electronically. This evaluation is conducted by the art faculty and is designed to ensure that all students entering the program have certain basic competencies and abilities. These skills are essential in enabling students to obtain the highest caliber professional training in the visual arts. We recommend that you work with your art teacher or other instructors and seek their advice and counsel as you prepare your portfolio.

This portfolio review also serves as scholarship consideration except for Art History applicants who must submit a research paper (ideally, on an art history topic but a paper on any humanities subject is acceptable). Art Therapy majors are also encouraged to submit a portfolio for scholarship consideration. An on-campus portfolio review or faculty meeting are recommended to students seeking scholarship consideration.
