Nature of Program

The curriculum of the School of Art & Design is designed to afford students an opportunity to explore the visual art and design disciplines broadly.

Undergraduate programs offer scholarly and studio experiences to potential artists, designers, educators, entrepreneurs, museum professionals, and researchers. In-depth instruction is enhanced by the close working relationship between students and faculty, allowing for shared insights and investigations into the creative processes.

Accreditation

West Virginia University is an accredited institutional member of the National Association of Schools of Art and Design (NASAD) and the School of Art & Design's degree programs are regularly evaluated to ensure they are meeting these national standards. The Fashion Design & Merchandising program is also an affiliate member of the Textile and Apparel Programs Accreditation Commission (TAPAC).

Global Positioning Studies (GPS)

Global Positioning Studies (GPS) is an interdisciplinary initiative within the School of Art & Design. It positions students at the crossroads between a local sense of place and a global understanding of that place in the world. Through direct experience, GPS courses encourage students to engage the world as a fertile ground for creative making and critical research. GPS courses are open to all majors and BFA Art and Design and BA Art History and Museum Professions majors are required to take at least one GPS-designated course to count toward regular degree requirements.

International Study Opportunities

Study abroad is strongly encouraged in all of our programs and is required for the BS Interior Architecture major. The School of Art & Design has established excellent international educational programs. These include summer study, short term, and semester-break options. These international programs travel to Chile, China, England, Ireland, France, and Italy. Students should consult with their academic mentor about taking language courses and other liberal studies courses that support international studies.

Scholarships

The College of Creative Arts and Media offers a limited number of special College-based scholarship awards for in-coming freshman and current students enrolled in its programs. College-based awards are granted on the demonstration of outstanding talent, academic achievement, and potential success in the Art and Design program.

ADVISING

The College of Creative Arts and Media requires all art and design majors to confer each semester with their academic mentor and staff advisor in order to maintain the correct distribution of coursework, to plan schedules for future semesters, and to prepare for graduation. Ultimately, it is the student's responsibility to ensure that all requirements for graduation are met.

AUDIT, CREDIT BY EXAMINATION, PASS/FAIL, AND NON-MAJOR COURSES

No major courses are available on an audit or credit by examination basis for degree-seeking students. Students enrolled in the School of Art & Design may not take major classes on a pass/fail basis. Courses designated for non-majors may not be substituted for major credit without approval of the program coordinator, or director of the School of Art & Design.

GRADE POINT AVERAGE

Minimum GPA requirements vary based on major. Consult the major information for individual programs. In addition, students may be requested to present a portfolio of selected works for examination and evaluation by a faculty committee. The committee is empowered to make recommendations regarding the student's status as a major in the School and their continuation toward a degree in art and design.

STUDENT WORK

Every effort is made to protect student work and property. The School of Art & Design and the College of Creative Arts and Media does not accept responsibility for damage or losses under any circumstances. The School of Art & Design reserves the right to retain examples of student work for reproduction and exhibition purposes and accreditation reviews.

Materials and Supplies

The School of Art & Design provides some supplies for course projects. Students will also need to purchase materials for individual or specialized projects.

Additional Program Standards

The Art Education major, Graphic Design area of emphasis, and Interior Architecture major have additional requirements for degree standing and progression. Consult the specific information for each major.
